

LOW PRICE 2001 - 2005 MODEL NO CUT FAIRING PROTECTION MUSHROOMS

The F J Owners Club can now supply these Low Price NO - CUT mushrooms to fit 2001 -2005 model FJR1300's (will also fit 2006+ models). They are designed to fit without cutting holes into the fairing. We have sold Bike Design types for many years now, but they have progressively got more and more expensive and now cost in excess of £170 a set. These are only £52 a set! They use a high grade aluminium mounting bracket that bolts to the FJR's frame using the bikes engine mount. They will offer good protection in the event of the bike being dropped (The usual cause of damage), and are convenient to fit, as no drilling of the plastics is required. As there are no unsightly holes in the body panels they can be removed and transferred to another FJR at a later date or re-sold if required. If your FJR has no protection mushrooms fitted please check out the price of the main side panel from Yamaha if you need any convincing that even bargain type mushrooms such as this are worth their weight in gold!

*These mushroom protectors offer protection against damage to fairings and other items that are prone to being damaged or scratched through the action of the bike toppling over, being dropped or loss of traction at low speeds. They are not guaranteed to give total protection against damage but to minimise the extent and severity of damage due to an accident. This applies to all types of protective mushrooms that are available. Highly Recommended.
